I am having a problem with god of war 2 pcsx2 save memory card. It really makes me mad that when I save in the game, I can't save any more. I don't know how to fix it and the internet is no help. -A.R.K. Hello A.R.K., thank you for your message! I'm sorry to hear about the difficulties you're having with your save files, but luckily I have a few solutions that should get things up and running again in no time! First, make sure that the "Save Type" is set to "Automatic." This will allow you to save anywhere throughout the game, rather than just at certain checkpoints of this type of game normally has. Also, be sure that the "Auto-Save" option is checked. If this is unchecked, you will not automatically save your progress as well. Finally, you might want to consider a memory card. I can't imagine a memory card being a problem for these files, but if you were going to try and save it to your hard drive instead of a memory card I can understand how there would be problems! In total, the solution to this problem is twofold: make sure that you have all three options above checked and that they are set at their default values (that they're not turned ON or OFF). As for the memory card, if this is your problem, all you would need to do is remove it and reinsert it. Happy gaming! New Post! How do you save different profiles to different memory cards? Hello all! For those who haven't figured it out yet; PCSX2 uses the memory card that comes with the console/system. This means that you can only save certain things that are stored within the game itself (namely game saves). Because of this, there is nothing out there that edits memory cards. This also means that two memory cards will not work for PCSX2. If you want to save the game in different profiles (for example, when you play with your friends), you can change the name of the memory card.
